

Case study No. 2

Theme: Shoulder pain

Patient's complaint: Pain or internal affection: Pain Internal

Affected meridians: Hand Tai Yang small intestine, Hand Shao Yang San Jiao, Foot Shao Yang Gall Bladder

Affected area: Dorsal aspect of right shoulder

Balancing Meridians: Foot Jue Yin Liver

Points Selected:

Left side foot: Along the Tibia from Liv 4- Liv 5 (achi points)

Extra Points (Guiding Points)

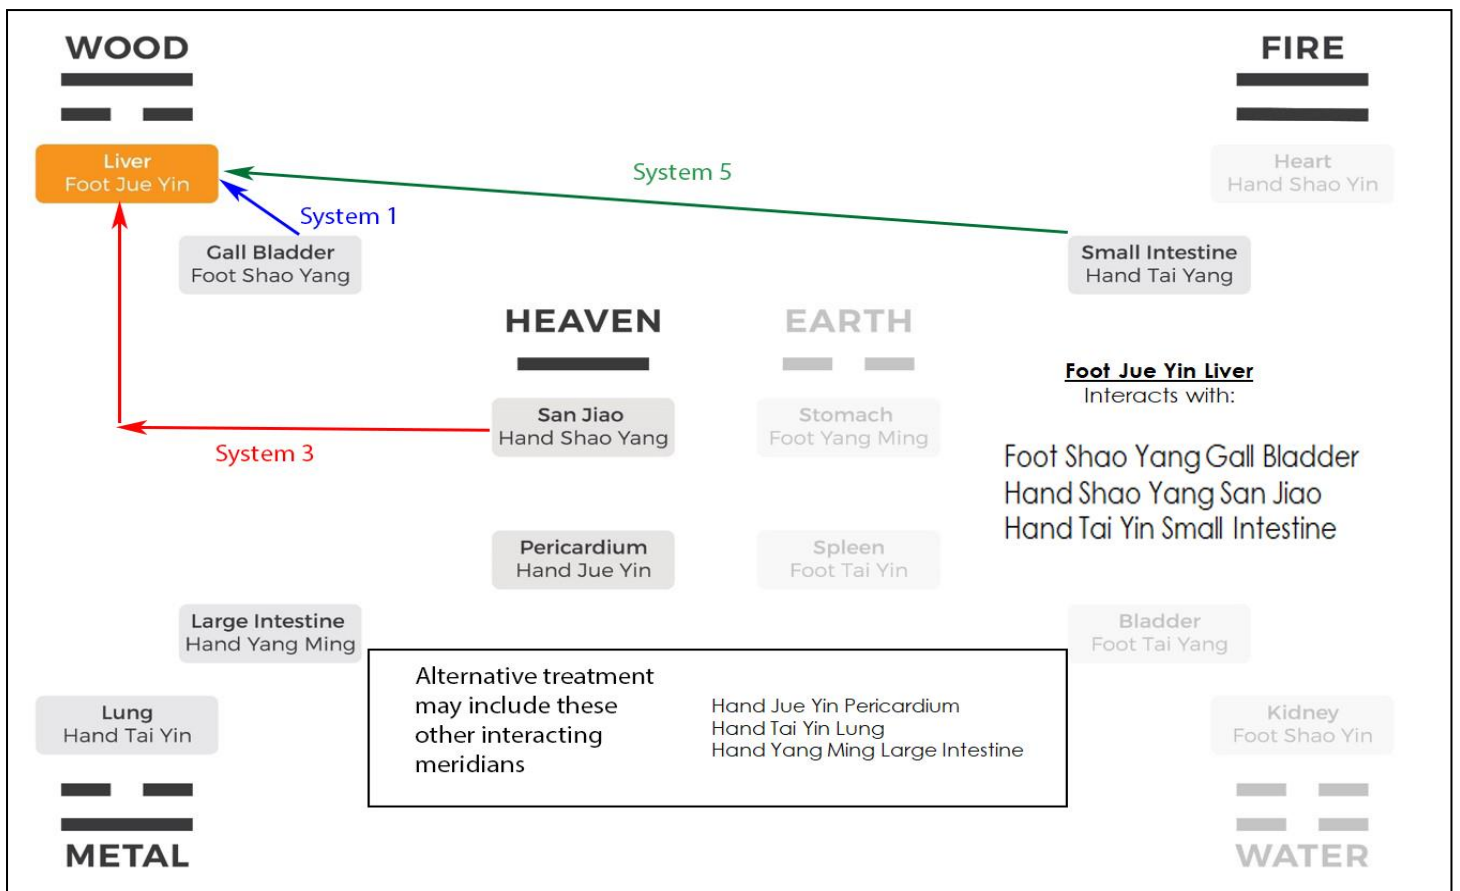

Right side foot: Gb 40

Right Side Arm: Sj 3, Si 3

Frequency of treatment: First week 3 times, second week 2 times, then once per week for 3 weeks

Results: After the first treatment a reduction in pain of 60%, 2nd treatment another 15%, 3rd treatment, 15%, fourth treatment all pain gone

- Explications: Foot Jue Yin Liver interacts with:
- Hand Tai Yang Small Intestine – system 5 Midday-Midnight
 - Hand Shao Yang San Jiao – system 3 Closed circuit meridians
 - Foot Shao Yang Gall Bladder – system 1 Interior-Exterior

The distal half of the tibia images the scapula and the shoulder in the reversed mirror and the bony structure of the tibia has a similar anatomical structure to the flat bone of the scapula. The three yang points are guiding needles that are at the wrist or ankle which image the shoulder which is the affected area.